Expecting a Baby?

What is the Likelihood of You Being affected by Postpartum Depression (PPD)?

Postpartum is a temporary depression that relates to after birth hormone changes. It could last up to one year and overall it affects about 10%-15% of women every year. Likelihood of suffering from PPD Roughly, around 0.4Million Correlation with Education, Ethnicity women suffer from PPD in and Relationship Status M Pregnant Women the U.S.every year. vho gave live-birth per Ye Women with less than a Diploma degree are three times more likely 2.8M Women Postpartum Depression to suffer from PPD than women with a B.S. or a higher educational degree. Likelihood of Suffering from PPD based on B-endorphin hormone level 20% Cohabiting Above the cutoff ellow the cuto Śingle women are two Likelihood of times more likely to ess Suffering suffer from PPD 15.40% 14.40% 13.80% 7.90% than married women. β-endorphin cutoff (pg/mg) Ásian women are less likely to The likelihood of PPD is at suffer from PPD. least three times more when the β-endorphin level is bellow the cutoff level.